BERN WHITE

- Code :22400 | Matt
- Code :23030 | Glazed Polished

This design is produced with glaze polished. The dense and hard surface of porcelain has made polishing a suitable alternative to glossy enamel surfaces. This means that a tile after baking, using polishing technology, will create a shine without glaze. What is ceramic polishing and nano polishing? However, polished ceramics may require sealing, and can absorb stubborn stains and become brittle in contact with water and chlorinated acids. When porcelain is first made, it is not water absorbent, but the polishing process to polish the unglazed surface creates microscopic holes in the surface that make the ceramic susceptible to stain absorption. Polished ceramics need insulation, such as nano, which are known as nano-polished ceramics after applying this insulation.Ceramics with nano treatment are more resistant to pollution and stain, more shiny and have sharper colors. The nano process is more complicated than you think. This process involves applying two different compounds up to ten layers deep on the ceramic surface, and then re-firing at 1250 degrees Celsius.

Bern

PORCELAIN

Nestled within the stunning landscape of Switzerland, Bern is a city renowned for its enchanting beauty and pristine whiteness, especially during the winter months. The graceful architecture of its medieval buildings is complemented by the soft blanket of snow that often covers the streets, creating a picturesque scene. Add to this the crystal-clear waters of the Aare River, which beautifully contrast the snowy surroundings, and the majestic icebergs that drift nearby, and you have a truly magical setting.

Inspired by this breathtaking environment, Rivan Ceramic Company drew upon the serene aesthetics of Bern to create its unique ceramic designs. The purity and elegance of the city's winter landscape are reflected in their pieces, where soft whites and gentle blues evoke the calmness of the icy rivers and the pure beauty of the snow-capped architecture.

Each ceramic creation encapsulates the essence of Bern, blending the charm of its natural surroundings with the artistry that defines the city, allowing those who use them to bring a slice of Bern's enchanting environment into their homes.

JOHANNESBURG
Light Gray

Johannesburg, known as the largest city in South Africa, stands out as a vibrant hub of culture and industry. Despite its lack of lakes, rivers, or seas, the city has earned the nickname "the City of Gold" due to the extensive gold mines that fueled its development and prosperity. This rich history of mining has shaped Johannesburg into an economic powerhouse, attracting people from diverse backgrounds seeking opportunity and growth.

The modern architecture of the city is characterized by an array of striking buildings and expansive highways, contributing to a predominantly gray palette that defines its urban landscape. This contemporary infrastructure reflects the city's dynamic spirit and relentless progress as it continues to evolve.

Johannesburg is marked by a unique blend of cultures, with people from both black and white races living together in this bustling metropolis. This diversity enriches the social fabric of the city, making it a melting pot of traditions, perspectives, and experiences.

The name "Johannesburg" has also inspired one of Rivan's ceramic designs, a tribute to this remarkable city. Each piece pays homage to its industrial heritage and vibrant community, capturing the essence of Johannesburg in exquisite artistry. Through Rivan ceramics, the spirit of this dynamic city is beautifully represented, ensuring that its legacy endures in creative form.

MOSCOW WHITE

PORCELAIN

Moscow, the majestic capital of Russia, is a city that radiates beauty and grandeur, particularly in winter when it is transformed into a dazzling wonderland. As snow blankets the streets, the city takes on a pristine whiteness, turning iconic landmarks like the Kremlin and St. Basil's Cathedral into picturesque silhouettes against a backdrop of soft, fluffy snow. The quiet charm of winter gives Moscow an enchanting quality, where the bustle of everyday life pauses and serenity reigns supreme.

The beauty of Moscow in winter is complemented by its unique urban landscape, characterized by grand architecture that marries historical opulence with contemporary design. The shimmering whiteness of snow enhances the elegance of the city's historic buildings, creating a striking contrast with the vibrant colors of the Russian palette often seen in the architecture. Icebergs of imagination and creativity seem to rise from the riverbanks, as the city's artistic expressions reflect its rich heritage and innovative spirit.

The whiteness and icy aesthetic of Rivan's ceramic designs draw from the natural beauty and architectural elegance of Moscow. These ceramics embody a sense of cool sophistication, evoking the serene feelings associated with the winter landscapes of the city. The crisp whites and icy blues encapsulate the essence of Moscow's winters, serving as a reminder of the city's enchanting coldness. In every piece, Rivan captures the spirit of Moscow's winter, allowing you to infuse your home with a touch of the city's unique allure and beauty.

This design is produced with glaze polished. The dense and hard surface of porcelain has made polishing a suitable alternative to glossy enamel surfaces. This means that a tile after baking, using polishing technology, will create a shine without glaze. What is ceramic polishing and nano polishing?
However, polished ceramics may require sealing, and can absorb stubborn stains and become brittle in contact with water and chlorinated acids. When porcelain is first made, it is not water absorbent, but the polishing process to polish the unglazed surface creates microscopic holes in the surface that make the ceramic susceptible to stain absorption. Polished ceramics need insulation, such as nano, which are known as nano-polished ceramics after applying this insulation. Ceramics with nano treatment are more resistant to pollution and stain, more shiny and have sharper colors. The nano process is more complicated than you think. This process involves applying two different compounds up to ten layers deep on the ceramic surface, and then re-firing at 1250 degrees Celsius.

SANTORINI GRAY

PORCELAIN

Santorini, a stunning island nestled in the Aegean Sea, is a place of unparalleled beauty and charm. Famous for its iconic white-washed buildings perched on rugged cliffs overlooking the azure waters, Santorini is a magnet for tourists seeking the epitome of Greek island allure. The island's unique architecture, with its gleaming white houses and buildings adorned with vibrant blue domes, creates a picture-perfect backdrop that has captured the hearts of visitors from around the world.

The allure of Santorini lies not only in its architectural splendor but also in its breathtaking sunsets, crystalline beaches, and rich history. The island's volcanic origins have shaped its dramatic landscapes, with sheer cliffs plunging into the sea and rugged terrain dotted with charming villages and vineyards.

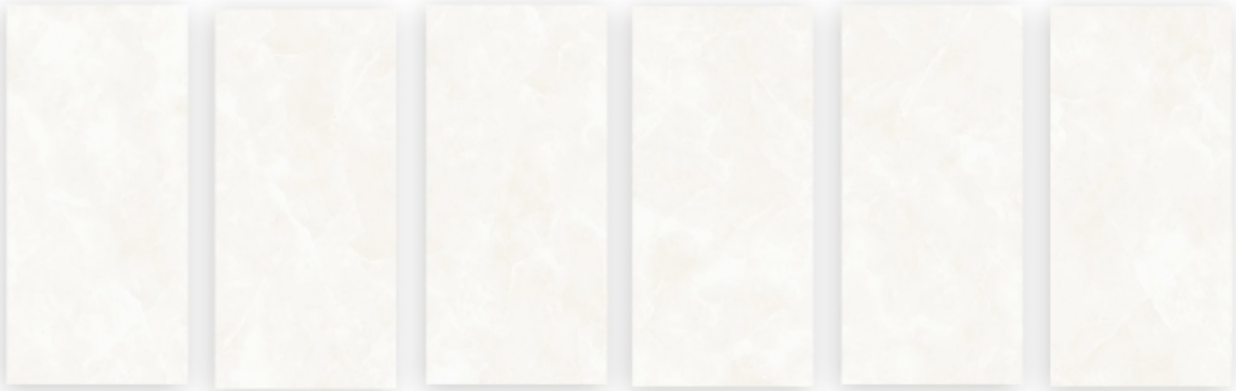

Rivan, a brand deeply inspired by the world's natural beauty, has paid homage to the enchanting allure of Santorini by naming one of its designs after this iconic island. The design encapsulates the essence of Santorini's timeless elegance, drawing upon the pristine white hues and captivating charm that define the island's architectural landscape. By infusing this design with the spirit of Santorini, Rivan has created a piece that embodies the allure and timeless appeal of this captivating Greek island, allowing wearers to carry a touch of Santorini's enchanting beauty wherever they go.

QUETTA CREAM

PORCELAIN

Quetta, a city located on the border of Afghanistan and Pakistan, is a place of striking natural beauty and extreme seasonal contrasts. Nestled amidst majestic mountains, Quetta experiences cold winters that transform the landscape into a pristine, white wonderland as the mountains are blanketed with snow. The sight of the snow-capped peaks against the clear blue skies is truly breathtaking, creating a serene and ethereal atmosphere.

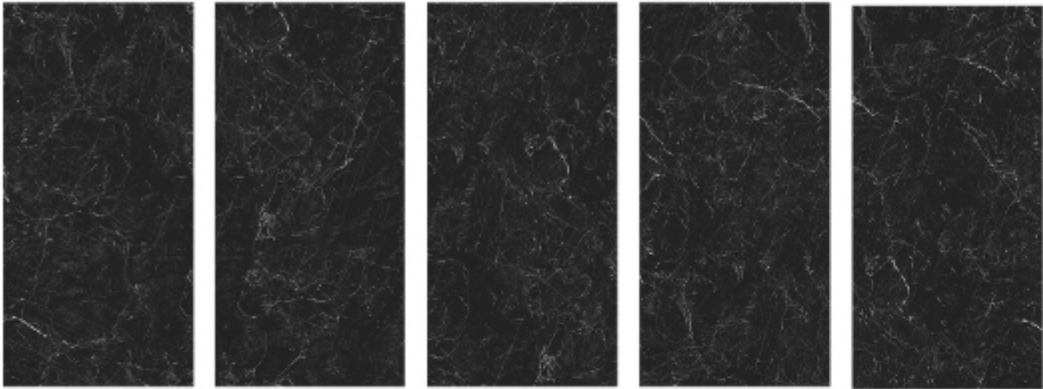

Conversely, the summers in Quetta are hot and dry, causing the colors of nature to transition into shades of golden and shiny white. The arid climate and golden hues of the surrounding terrain under the bright sun create a mesmerizing and almost otherworldly spectacle.

Rivan, a brand deeply influenced by its surroundings, draws inspiration from the natural elements of Quetta. The brand's designs are a reflection of the city's contrasting seasons, capturing the purity and tranquility of the snowy winters as well as the warm, golden glow of the summer landscape. The interplay between these two distinct seasons has left an indelible mark on Rivan's creations, infusing them with an essence of natural beauty and seasonal harmony.

Cleveland

PORCELAIN

The Cleveland Volcano, nestled in the remote Alaskan Islands, is a breathtaking natural wonder that captivates the imagination with its stunning gray hue. This majestic mountain, rising proudly from the earth, is a sight to behold as it stands out against the backdrop of the Pacific Ocean, its distinctive color setting it apart from the surrounding landscape. The unique gray shade of the Cleveland Volcano is a result of its volcanic origins, giving it an enigmatic and awe-inspiring appearance. Its rugged slopes and snow-capped peaks create a dramatic silhouette against the sky, making it a striking landmark visible from afar.

Inspired by the colors and textures of this remarkable mountain, Cleveland Rivan's ceramic designs pay homage to the beauty and mystique of the Cleveland Volcano. The intricate patterns and earthy tones of these ceramics capture the essence of the mountain, evoking a sense of reverence and respect for the natural world.

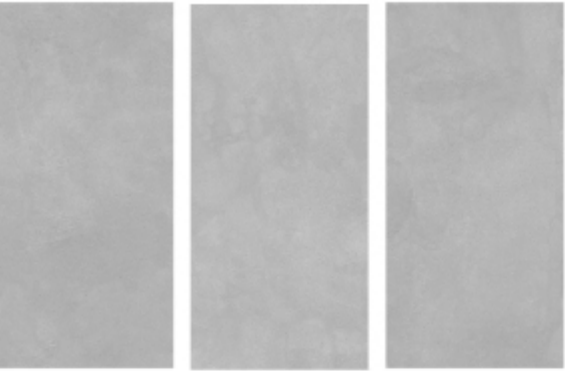

In this beautiful city, the elegance of historical architecture meets the nuances of contemporary design, creating a unique backdrop that inspires many. The gray color and white motifs of Rivan ceramics evoke the cobblestones underfoot and the gentle waves of the Vltava River, harmonizing with the architectural elegance of Prague. This design pays homage to the city's unique aesthetic, blending its historical charm with contemporary style. The Rivan brand's ceramic design draws its inspiration from the stunning landscapes and intricate details found in Prague. It reflects a deep respect for the city's architectural legacy, bringing elements of Prague's charm into modern interiors.

Cincinnati Dark Gray

PORCELAIN

Cincinnati, a city steeped in history, grapples with its share of industrial smoke and pollution, which often casts a gray pallor over its skyline. This persistent hue permeates the landscape, weathering the city's striking architecture—ranging from its historic buildings in Over-the-Rhine to the modern designs that adorn the riverfront. The interplay of smoke and structural forms creates a unique atmosphere, one that reflects both the challenges and the resilience of urban life.

Inspired by this gritty beauty, Rivan Ceramic Company sought to capture the essence of Cincinnati in its ceramic designs. The muted grays and smoky textures of the city informed their creations, embodying the raw character of the urban environment.

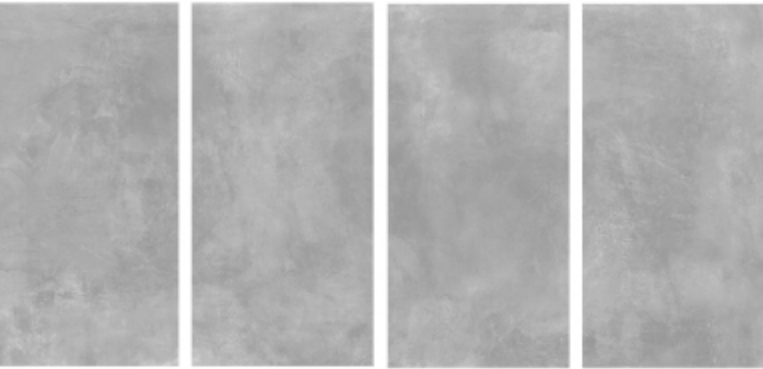

Each piece reflects the architectural details that define Cincinnati, marrying the spirit of the city's landscape with a contemporary aesthetic. Through their ceramics, Rivan embraces the complexities of Cincinnati, transforming the city's palette of gray and its legacy of smoke into beautiful, functional art that pays homage to the urban experience.
